Blues Expect
Hard Battle
From BeloitFirst Midwest Conference Game of the Season Will Be Played at Armory G. Tonight

Coach Christoph's basketball team will meet a harder opponent, when they meet Beloit tonight, than they had expected earlier in the season. Oshkosh Normal, twice beaten by the Blues, had taken Beloit's measure in two games earlier in the season. However, they were playing at that time without the services of their star guard, Vandolah, who has since been added to their lineup.

Some idea of the strength of the new Beloit team can be gained from the fact that Hamline College barely managed to eke out a one point victory from Beloit last Saturday. Beloit lead at the half 9 to 8 and the final score was 22 to 21 in Hamline's favor. Meyers, Carrigan, and Vandolah all played well for the losers.

The Blues have not been idle since their last battle with the Normalites a week ago. Coach Christoph has been busy ironing out some of the defects brought out in that game, and special emphasis has been placed on an offensive drive with drill on better passing and more accuracy on short shots.

This will be Lawrence's first Midwest conference game. Beloit has lost six straight conference games besides the two games to the Normalites. However, Beloit's steady improvement in their conference games and their experience playing together will make them a dangerous opponent in tonight's game.

The starting lineups will probably be:

Beloit	Lawrence
Carrigan	R. F. Heideman
Dupe	L. F. Clarke
Baleh	C. Sund
Meyers	R. G. Grove C.
Vandolah	L. G. Briese

Lawrence Debaters
To Argue In Chilton

Thursday afternoon Coach Albert Franke will take his affirmative and negative debating teams to Chilton to engage in the second no-decision debate of the season before a high school audience in that city.

The two Lawrence teams will present both sides of the discussion on the essential features of the McNary-Haugen bill and their advisability as remedies for the present agricultural crisis. The debate itself will be an exhibition affair, and after the contest the audience will be allowed to ask questions regarding the bill.

The personnel of the two teams to make the trip has not yet been decided upon, but it is probable that the debaters who did not go to Brillion last week will make the trip to Chilton on Thursday.

Campus Politics Is Subject of Snyder Talk

"The policy of the Student Senate is to break combinations and to put politics on a clean basis." This was the declaration made by Harry Snyder, '27, at convocation Friday. He continued, "We are opposed to combinations because they absolutely ruin the thing we are in college for and that is to learn how to live together here and after we get out of college."

Mr. Snyder explained the dangers of combinations to the college and suggested that the students accept the proposal to demand all nominees to get out and state their policies and convictions.

Professor John R. Denyes of the department of religion, spoke at a convention of the Epworth League, held at Racine, last Sunday.

Men's Debate Team To Meet Western College

The Lawrence men's debate teams will be put to their first inter-collegiate test of the season, when they will clash with the debate team of the Occidental college of Los Angeles at the Menasha hotel next Thursday, February 3. The debate will be held at a combined meeting of the Neenah and Menasha Kiwanis and Rotary clubs.

Thursday afternoon the affirmative and negative teams are scheduled to oppose each other at Chilton before the high school of that city in their second non-decision debate of the season.

The question to be debated is "Resolved that the McNary-Haugen bill be enacted into Federal legislation." Arthur Mueller, Wilbur Schmidt, and Gordon Clapp will take the affirmative side, while Ray Pink, Burton Manser, and Charles Barnard, will support the negative side.

"Goose Hangs High,"
Annual Sunset Play
Draws Large Crowd

"The Goose Hangs High" Is Presented at Memorial Chapel By Dramatic Society

Picturing the difficulties arising in a modern American home, when the children's "goose hangs high", and the fond parents are beset by financial troubles, the play, "The Goose Hangs High", was successfully presented by Sunset Players at Memorial chapel last Friday evening. A large-sized crowd turned out to see the production.

The character part of "Granny", the very brisk old lady, who is continually shocked by the capers and modern deeds of her grandchildren, was admirably played by Helen Chegwain, '29.

Lucille Smith, '27, and Leslie Wright, '29, were very good in the roles of the Ingals twins, and continually offered amusement for the audience by their actions and escapades which were the special grief of "Granny".

The older Ingals son, Hugh, was well represented by Jack Walter, '29, and with Madge Helmer, who played the part of Carroll Dagmar, furnished the love element of the play.

Kenneth Miles, '29, deserves credit for his work as the father, Bernard Ingals, which part he played exceedingly well in spite of the fact that he stepped into the role but a short time ago, when Edward Detloff was forced to give it up because of illness. Irene Elkert, '29, as the mother, Eunice Ingals, had a part for which she was well suited and in this role well displayed her dramatic ability.

The above mentioned members of the cast were strongly supported by Oscar Frederickson, '30, as Noel Derly, who was interested in going into the nursery business with Mr. Ingals; John Robson, '28, as Leo Day, the councilman who is anxious to acquire social prestige; Verel Knaup, '28, as Julia Murdoch, the somewhat acid, materialistic, selfish woman, who had her son, Ronald, played by Diehl Snyder, '29, under her thumb; Jack Rudolph, '30, as Elliott Kimberley, the ignorant and vulgar councilman who believes in giving offices to his friends; and Dorothy Verrier, '27, as the maid.

Intermingled with humor and pathos, the play was one which held the interest of the audience from beginning to end, and this coupled with the admirable presentation made it very enjoyable.

A small collection of important minerals from all parts of the world has been purchased by the geological department to complete mineral groups in the geology classification system.

Y. W. Attacks
Method Of
NominatingOpen Discussion at Y.W.C.A. Meeting
Thursday Centers on Self-Government

"Since Y.W.C.A. is in favor of establishing clean politics, we recommend to the student senate of Lawrence college that the nominating committee for all-college club elections be changed to a more democratic representative group." This recommendation, which is the first actual step towards the promotion of self-government on the campus, was formed at the conclusion of the Y.W.C.A. meeting last Thursday evening. The discussion on "Self-Government", led by Helen Diederich, brought the realization of the necessity of definite action.

The basis for the discussion was a sentence from Mr. Franke's speech at convocation last Wednesday morning: "The stability of a government depends upon the degree to which the principles, attitudes, and ideals of a people are in harmony with the principles and ideals upon which their government rests." The application of this statement to Lawrence college prompted frank opinion on the subject of self-government. The following are some of the questions which were discussed.

It was found that at present the nominating committee for all-college club elections consists of representatives from each fraternity and sorority, and the non-Greek letter groups. At once it was pointed out how undemocratic a representation this is. A nominating body consisting of representatives from other groups, such as honorary societies, dormitories, or classes, was suggested. Of course, the officers chosen would come from sorority, fraternity, or non-Greek letter groups, but it would not be primarily in sorority and fraternity interests; it would be because of the candidates' own personal qualifications.

Would the announcement of nominations for all-college club officers a considerable time before elections be a wise action? Instantly it was said that this would prompt campaigning by fraternities and sororities causing political mix-ups. Intense rivalry would be at its height at election time, making for unfair play. On the other hand, candidates would become well-known to everyone. Freshmen, making up the largest class, would greatly influence the results, if they could vote intelligently. Impartial write-ups with pictures of the candidates in the Lawrentian would do away with the phrase, "Why, I never heard of him."

Do we have democracy in school government? If not, would self-

First Women's Debate
With Marquette U

A dual debate with Marquette university on February 18 will open the first season of debate for women at Lawrence. The affirmative team will go to Milwaukee to debate the question: Resolved, that the American jury system be abolished. The negative team will meet the Marquette affirmative team here.

On February 26, the negative team will meet a team from Western State Normal at Kalamazoo, Michigan, here. The normal school which is making a tour has a strong team. A dual debate with Carroll is scheduled for March 24, the negative team journeying to Waukesha. The date for a debate with Oshkosh Normal has not yet been arranged.

The members of the two teams are as follows: Affirmative: Mildred Christman '29, Tony; Clara Miller '29, Appleton; Myrtle Ellis '27, Wauwatosa; negative: Agnes Huberty '28, Menominee Falls; Eunice Davis '27, Richland Center; Ramona Fox '28, Three Oaks, Michigan.

Dr. Wriston Speaks
On Fraternity Relations

Comparing the mind to a church collection basket with its diverse offerings, President Henry M. Wriston began his speech on fraternity relations at convocation on Monday. He then quoted from two farewell addresses, first from that of "Ma" Ferguson, former governor of Texas, in which she spoke of the "joys and sorrows of responsibility"; the other quotation from Mr. Pinchot, ex-governor of Pennsylvania, who retired "Conscious of not winning the fight nor reaching the goal."

"This reminds me," continued Dr. Wriston, "of Briggs, with his cartoon about 'Somebody always taking the joy out of life.' I am also reminded that Professor Franke spoke, and Harry Snyder spoke, so I have decided that I shall put a finger into the pie also, and speak of this matter this morning."

In regard to the question of fraternity politics Dr. Wriston read from Paul's "First epistle to the fraternities at Lawrence." In the passage which he read, President Wriston stressed the desirability of doing the right thing and doing it honorably, of being friendly and helpful to each other in all relationships, of refraining from dominance or relative supremacy, and above all, of "Loving thy neighbor, and his house, as thyself."

Application of Paul's teachings, Dr. Wriston suggested would make the fraternity relations on the campus more pleasant.

Cups on Display

The interfraternity trophies are now on display in the trophy cabinet on the second floor of the library. These trophies are the same ones that were on display in the window of the Hyde Jewelry company for the past few days.

Young Assemblyman Presents
Two Bills To Wisconsin House

With the session of the Wisconsin state legislature still young, one of the Lawrentians recently elected to the executive body is placing himself in the limelight by presenting two bills before the Assembly. This man is Assemblyman Oscar Schmiede, ex-'25, representative from the first Outagamie county district.

The most important of these pieces of legislation, and the one expected to draw a fierce debate when it comes upon the floor, is one which would limit the amount of money to be spent in campaign expenditures for election to state and national offices. The bill amends the present statute in that it definitely limits the amount to be spent to $7,500 in the primary and the same amount in the final election.

This bill was introduced in the Assembly last Tuesday and will come up for consideration and ultimate passage in the near future. From the interest it has already aroused, it is said that the passage or rejection of the bill will be the center of some interesting controversy.

Another bill introduced by Mr. Schmiede is one regarding the tenure of office for school teachers. This bill aims to make the tenure of office for all teachers one year, with reappointment provisions for three years. After this the appointment term can be indefinite in length, pending discharge or eligibility to pension. This bill was also among the many possible statutes presented at Tuesday's session of the law making body.

Five Fraternities Combine
In Open Political Caucus

Theta Phi, Beta Sigma Phi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Phi Kappa Alpha, and Psi Chi Omega Organize For Political Purposes

With a total membership of 157, and a program whose keynote is clean campus politics, five fraternities have organized into a political caucus, and in this issue put forth their policies. The fraternities in the caucus are Theta Phi, Beta Sigma Phi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Phi Kappa Alpha, and Psi Chi Omega.

Their program is a comprehensive one, the major points of which advocate open campus politics, "the best man for the office," improvement of rushing conditions to facilitate cooperation among fraternities, support of all programs for the best interests of Lawrence.

The following is their statement:

OUR PROGRAM

Open campus politics.
Announcement of nominations before elections.
Public campaigns for office.
"The best man for the office."
Improvement of rushing conditions to facilitate cooperation among fraternities.
Support of all programs for the best interests of Lawrence.

Politics have existed upon this campus for eighty years. Politics exist today, and they will continue to exist as long as there are two factions of any sort on this campus.

We frankly admit that we are a combination of fraternities, banded together to support the best policies and to nominate the best candidates within our membership. We are determined to go on with our organization, to fight for open and above-board campus politics. The criticisms of the past week have only served to hasten the public declaration of our policies.

Last spring, the leaders of five fraternities met to consider the situation on this campus. Believing that we had within our membership men of leadership and ability, we desired to place them in the offices for which they were fitted. Single-handed, this was impossible because of the dominance of a political faction on this campus. After careful consideration, we chose the most capable men in our membership and united for their support.

Secrecy was essential to the success of our enterprise. We considered the feasibility of an open declaration of our campaign, but we realized that surprise was our most effective weapon against the existing faction. In the second place, we did not know what attitude the administration would take toward an open political faction.

The time for secrecy is past. While it has been generally understood that such a combination existed, we are now prepared to make a public statement of our organization and our policies.

Final control of our organization is vested in the active chapters of the member fraternities, not in any alumnus. This control is centralized in a committee or caucus composed of two representatives from each of the five fraternities. They are to ascertain the sentiment of their chapters and bring it for discussion before the committee.

At the meetings of the caucus, policies are discussed and candidates are carefully considered. The choice of a candidate is based not upon vote-getting abilities nor upon fraternity affiliations, but upon actual ability to fill the particular office. Even though the candidate is not in sympathy with the combination, if we believed him to be the logical candidate, we supported him. We defy anyone to prove that we have supported inefficient or incapable candidates for any office.

It shall be our policy to announce publicly our nominees at least two weeks before the primary elections, in order to give them an opportunity to

Dr. Wriston Elected
President Of State
Educational GroupPresident and Dean Naylor Attend
Meeting of College Presidents and Deans

Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college, was elected president of the Wisconsin College Presidents and Deans association at the annual meeting of the organization, held at Milwaukee Downer college last Thursday. Dr. Wriston and Dean Wilson S. Naylor were the Lawrence representatives at the down state conference.

Round table discussions on problems of interest to association members constituted the program for the annual gathering of the state presidents and deans, Dr. Wriston leading a discussion on "The Freshman Year." Other discussions were led by President Silas Evans of Ripon, who spoke on "The Training of Teachers"; Dean Edward A. Fitzpatrick of Marquette, giving "Correlation of Work of Colleges and Universities," and President Irving Manner of Beloit presenting "Athletics."

The organization of which Dr. Wriston is the new president holds its meetings annually, or subject to call, and it includes all the colleges of the state in its membership, as well as the universities of Marquette and Wisconsin. Its purpose is to allow its members to discuss common interests and problems in higher education.

Thursday noon, Dr. Wriston attended the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Colleges Associated at Milwaukee. Two speeches will be given by the Lawrence president on Thursday. At noon he will address the Kiwanis club of Waukesha, and in the evening he will deliver a commencement address before the senior class of the Waukesha high school.

Fink and Snyder Judge
High School Debates

To Ray Fink, '27, president of the Forensic Board at Lawrence, and Harry Snyder, '27, prominent debater and orator, is credited the honor of being the first undergraduate judges of high school debating contests in this section.

Fink was one of the judges in the debate between Brillion and Omro high schools which was held at Brillion last Thursday night, while Snyder was one of the men who decided upon the relative merits of the debate between Menasha and Brillion, which was held at Menasha.

The selection of these men for judges in debates of this kind is not only a compliment to the personal ability of the men along forensic lines, but is also a tribute to the splendid reputation in forensics which Lawrence college holds in the state.

Limited Number of "Ships"

A limited number of copies of "Ships", Theta Sigma Phi anthology of verse, has been secured, and can be obtained from any member of the fraternity. These last few copies will be sold at thirty-five cents each.

Judith Morrow, '30, is at the infirmary with a severe cold.

LET US IN ON IT

At last the epochal moment has arrived, and we find ourselves united in a common purpose! With the announcement of the organization of an honest-to-goodness "big time" party, with its program of:

"The best man for the office."

Improvement of rushing conditions to facilitate cooperation among the fraternities.

Support of all programs for the best interests of Lawrence, a new day dawns for Lawrence College, and the future of campus politics promises to be one of unspotted cleanliness.

But a political party, to function properly, must have its opposition party—if the Republicans died without an heir the Democrats would have to succumb also, or split their own membership in order to form an opposing group. As yet we haven't heard anything—in print—of the opposing political party on our campus, but we assume that if there isn't one yet, there should be. When the opposition, made up of the leavings, announces its platform, we hardly expect them to advocate:

Any man for the office, providing he belongs to our group.

Promotion of unfair rushing conditions.

Support of any program that will work for the worst interest of Lawrence.

so it is probable that their program will advocate:

"The best man for the office."

Improvement of rushing conditions to facilitate cooperation among fraternities.

Support of all programs for the best interests of Lawrence.

If their platforms are going to overlap so completely, some points of disagreement will have to be ferreted out or we'll find ourselves with only one party after all, and that party advocating just the things the whole college should stand for. National political parties split on international relations, free trade, etc. On our campus we can't be expected to split on the big points like:

"The best man for the office."

Improvement of rushing conditions to facilitate cooperation among fraternities.

Support of all programs for the best interests of Lawrence.

Seriously, there's something weird about this thing. We have a queer feeling that somebody's being gyped, imitated or laughed at. There is a familiar ring to the words.

"The best man for the office."

Improvement of rushing conditions to facilitate cooperation among fraternities.

Support of all programs for the best interests of Lawrence.

We've seen them somewhere before—heard them before. We have a hazy impression that we were advocating just those things ourselves. If fact, we were of the opinion that the whole student body recognized those principles as the ideal ones. And now we have "five fraternities" pre-empting them within a circle that has definite boundaries. The idea is fine, but it is our opinion that Lawrence college isn't a big enough institution to support political factions, for the very simple reason that when one party has chosen its platform, there isn't any material left out of which an opposing faction can formulate a program—and then it all boils down again to the question "What's the use of just one political party?"

Is there any reason in the world why the whole student body can't belong to a political organization that endorses and supports:

"The best man for the office."

Improvement of rushing conditions to facilitate cooperation among fraternities.

Support of all programs for the best interests of Lawrence.

Why leave out the biggest part of the college—the 197 sorority girls and the 400 non-Greeks?

We may be all wrong, may be seeing the thing from the wrong angle, but as far as we can see the only distinctive thing about the new political organization is its membership. It's platform is assuredly the one advocated by all levelheaded, foresighted Lawrentians.

The caucus states that its whole organization is "founded upon mutual trust of one another." Is it too Utopian to ask, why eight fraternities, nine sororities and four hundred non-Greeks can't form an organization "founded upon mutual trust of one another"? As long as the newly-founded organization has extended an open hand to anyone in sympathy with its purpose, we would suggest that all those who are, and we believe this takes in practically the whole enrollment of the college, attend the caucus meeting and help decide who is the "best man for the office."

PRINT YOUR ARGUMENTS

Although we believe that the announcement of an open political organization is an improvement on last spring's conditions, we do not believe that it is the most satisfactory solution. However, there are other opinions on the campus, and the contributor's column of the Lawrentian is open to anyone who wishes to discuss this problem. We shall give an impartial presentation of both sides of the case, insofar as space permits.

Fraternities Combine In Political Group

campaign for their offices and to present their policies before the student body.

"The best man for the office" is our slogan. Heretofore, each fraternity has nominated its most able men for the important offices, its less capable men for the others. The inevitable result was that many defeated candidates, men of ability, were left without offices in which they might be of service, while less efficient men held the remainder of the campus offices. Our policy shall avoid this waste of ability, for instead of running several candidates for an office which only one can hold, we shall support the one best candidate from our membership.

Training for leadership is to be an important part of our program. We believe that candidates for the more important All-College offices and the class presidencies should serve an apprenticeship in the minor offices and should be trained in executive ability through participation in campus activities.

It shall not be our policy to interfere in any way in the awarding of honors and prizes, or in the elections to honorary fraternities.

Believing that the principle source of the ill-feeling between Lawrence fraternities is to be found in the intense competition and the unfair practices of the rushing period, we shall insist upon a strict observance of the rushing rules by our own members and favor an improvement of the conditions of rushing week.

It is maintained that fraternity policies cause much of this ill-feeling between various fraternities. Our experience has not substantiated this belief. The antagonism which exists between fraternities is rooted far more deeply than the political conspiracies of the past few years. It is based upon charges and counter-charges of unfair rushing tactics, upon dissensions in interfraternity athletics, upon jealousies—recent and past, handed down until they have become traditions of the fraternities. But these antagonisms exist between organizations, not between individuals, and we have not found that fraternity affiliations have in any way injured our individual friendships. On the other hand, we have found the spirit of friendship and cooperation among the five members fraternities has been vastly strengthened and improved, since our whole organization is founded upon mutual trust of one another.

This is our stand; these are the principles which we support, the policies which we shall follow. We are earnest in our desire to improve conditions at Lawrence, and we seek the aid of those individuals who are sincerely in sympathy with our purpose to fight for open politics and to support the best man for the office.

Men's Championship Intramural Rifle Match To Be Held

The men's intramural rifle match will be held in the basement of the armory Saturday afternoon, January 29 from three to five o'clock. The match will be open to the public.

The winner of this match will be presented with a silver medal signifying campus championship in that sport. Besides this, the ten highest scorers will constitute the team which will represent Lawrence in several intercollegiate meets to be held soon.

The scores this week indicate that there will be keen competition at the meet next Saturday. They are as follows: Kittleson, 50; Herrick, 49; Mackenzie, 49; Jacobson, 48; Coon, 47; R. Buchanan, 45; Wright, 45; Winslow, 44; Warner, 42; Woeckner, 42.

The faculty members are holding their own with the rest of the club. Professor McConagha scored 49, while Professor Fowers' score was 42.

Profs Beat D. I.'s In Volley Match

The faculty volleyball team defeated the D. I.'s in a hard-fought match at the gym Thursday evening. The victorious faculty team were contenders for the northwestern Wisconsin district Y.M.C.A. title last year and have already beaten a team composed of the best players from each fraternity this year.

The D. I. men took the first game 15-10 but later the team work of the professors overcame the fraternity champs and they took the next four games 15-4, 15-3, 15-3, and 15-14. The last game was by far the best battle of the evening.

The faculty have now defeated two student teams and the third match, which they will play, will be played during the second semester when they will meet a team which will consist of the best players on the entire campus.

Free Throws By Ham and Fish

Just as every politician has his platform so has Free Throws a platform. For this week we advocate the radiators covered underneath the south basket and a score board erected so as to keep the spectators informed as to the score.

Speaking of our predictions for last week's game we were not so far off. Let's see how close we'll get tonight. We would say that Lawrence is going to beat Beloit in the neighborhood of 28-18.

Speaking of originality why can't some ingenious young man devise some new way to attract attention instead of going out for a smoke between halves.

The Carroll Echo announces that their team is beginning to look like the pioneers of old. Can you imagine THAT? And we thought they were going to have a good team this year.

That old saying "youth must be served" is all out of date. The way the professors played volleyball against the D. I.'s one would think that it's an educated man's game. Well, anyway it's too close to the semester exams to beat the professors.

Don Gebhard, intramural director, has just announced the all-fraternity volleyball team. Here it is: Schellner, Theta; Heideman, D. I.; Jessup, D. I.; Schlagenhauf, Sigma; Barlow, Sigma; Hanke, Phi Tau; Gunderson, Beta; and Pierce, Theta.

Varsity Volley Ball Team Is Selected

Marjorie Lockard, '29; Helen Fredrickson, '29; Mildred Christman, '29; Esther Ziegler, '28; Amy Howser, '28; Mary Ellen Bond, '28; Katherine Hubbard, '30; Helen Ziegler, '30; and Irene Fullerton, '30, have been picked as the members of the varsity volleyball team.

The sophomore champions of this sport were entertained at dinner at Sage hall last Friday evening, with Miss Lorenz, Miss Wisner, Miss Stouder and Miss Fretts as guests of honor.

Roger Montague, '29, and LaVahn Maesch, ex '25, spent Saturday duck hunting at Lake Sickingawawa.

Thetas, Phi Kaps, D. I.'s and Betas Saturday Winners

In a very closely-contested game of the inter-fraternity basketball league the Betas defeated the Sig Eps Saturday afternoon, by the score of 15-10. The first half ended 5-4 in favor of the winners and at the beginning of the fourth quarter the score stood at eight all. The Betas then started a rally which won the game for them. Jackola was the outstanding star of the game because of his clever dribbling and foul-throwing ability.

In a ragged game the D. I.'s defeated the Phi Taus by the score of 10-7. Both teams had an off-day, missing numerous shots within striking distance of the basket and there was also a great deal of fouling. The score at the end of the first half stood 8-5 for the D. I. boys. "Wally" Voeks played the best offensive game for the winners while Ungrodt and Behling carried the brunt of the attack for the Phi Taus.

The Phi Kaps had a fairly easy time disposing of the Psi Chis by the score of 40-11. The first half ended with the Phi Kaps ahead, 13-7. In the next half the Phi Kaps hit their stride and ran up the score to put the game on ice. Hilton and Hill starred for the Phi Kaps, while Leader and McCandless played the best game for the losers.

In the final game of the afternoon, the Thetas defeat the Delta Sigs in a hard fought game 28-16. The Thetas found the battle harder against the Delta Sigs than the Psi Chis, and had to muster their best men in order to run up a good score. Schueller starred for the Thetas with Kittleson doing the best work for the Delta Sigs.

Y.W.C.A. Discusses Nomination Methods

government fill this need? Interest must be present within the entire college before self-government can assume any position, was the point brought up immediately. A dormant attitude, in any project, spells failure for the student body, whereas entering into any kind of discussion shows the student where his opinions lay. Then, even though interest is awakened, there must be co-operation and unity among the students. Good leaders who are putting school above personal motives are an absolute prerequisite for self-government. Men and women who are giving their best are the kind of leaders needed.
The question arose as to whether or not students are responsible enough to have final authority. Are the students of Lawrence capable of deciding things for themselves? That is for them to say. Discussion on the subject of self-government has been prevalent on the campus, and will continue to be. Many students can see the wisdom of such a step, yet are they sincere in their beliefs if they do not act? It is for them to decide.

Miss Fenton To Study Methods of U Library

Miss Dorothy Fenton, reference librarian, will make an extensive study of the classification and cataloging system of the Historical library at the University of Wisconsin, so that the historical documents in the Lawrence library may be properly arranged for use of students in the future.
Miss Fenton states that the "lib" is a depository of historical and governmental documents, but that heretofore they have never been arranged properly so that they could be accessible to students. It is hoped that, after these books have been classified in a systematic way, they will become source material of great value to students of politics and government here at Lawrence.

Otis Weinkauff, '27, spent the week-end at Janesville.
